This unique mid-century home was designed in 1949 by renowned architect, Thornton Ladd, who's work includes Pasadena's Norton Simon Museum & Annandale Country Club. Concrete floors, high ceilings, expansive windows, skylights, patios front & back integrated into the natural landscape – this is a one-of-a-kind home filled with fresh air & light. Designed for easy living, quiet solitude, formal dinner parties, or a barbecue for a 100 of your favorite friends, the space suits many purposes. The terraced backyard is simple to maintain below while providing the perfect place for a secluded garden or small citrus grove on the top level. Large 2-car garage, powered to recharge your Tesla, with an additional room for storage/workshop. This is your invitation to experience this extraordinary home.
